Psalm 103

The Byzantine liturgical day follows the ancient Jewish reckoning of a day, which began at sunset. The new liturgical day thus begins at vespers, and creation is the theme of the first psalm. On Sundays and Major Feasts, an abbreviated version is often chanted.

Bless the Lord, O my soul! * You are very great, O Lord, my God!
Clothed in pomp and brilliance, * arrayed with light as with a cloak.
Stretching out the sky as a tent-cloth, * covering your lofty halls with water.
You make the clouds your conveyance, * You surge on the wings of the wind.
You make spirits your messengers, * and flaming fires your attendants.
You settle the earth on its firm foundation, * it shall stand unmoved from age to age.
The abyss covers it, like a garment, * waters stand over the mountains.
At Your rebuke they will take flight, * at the peal of your thunder they will fear.
They hurdle the hills and run down the dales, * to the place You have chosen for them.
You have set up a boundary not to be passed, * they shall never return to cover the earth.
Down in the gullies You make springs to rise, * water shall go down between the mountains.
They shall give drink to the beasts of the field, * wild asses will seek them to quench their thirst.
The birds of the sky will abide by them, * from among the rocks they will raise their song.
From Your lofty halls You refresh the mountains, * the earth shall be fed with the fruit of Your works.
You make green pastures for the cattle, * and food-plants for the service of man.

So that bread may be brought forth from the earth, * and wine that gladdens the heart of man.

So that oil may put a gleam upon his face, * and that bread may strengthen the heart of man.

The trees of the plain will be satisfied, * the cedars of Lebanon that he planted.

The sparrows will build their nests in them, * and the herons will call them their home.

To the deer belong high mountains, * to rodents, the shelter of the rocks.

You have made the moon to mark the seasons, * the sun knows the time of its setting.

You establish darkness and it is night, * wherein the forest creatures prowl around.

Young lions roar for their prey, * and call out to God for their meat.

As the sun rises, they will come together; * and lay themselves down in their dens.

Man will go out to his labor, * and work until eventide.

How great are your works, O Lord, * in wisdom You have wrought them all.

The earth is filled with your creatures, * Even the wide and open sea itself.

Within it there are countless creeping things, * living beings small and large.

Upon it there are ships a-sailing, * and that great beast You made to have fun.

All of them look up to You, * to give them their food in due time.

You provide and they gather up, * You open your hand and they are full.

You hide your face and they cringe, * You suspend their breath, and they die and return to their dust.

You send forth your breath and they live, * You renew the face of the earth.

May the Lord's glory endure forever, * may the Lord rejoice in His works.
He looks upon the earth and makes it quake, * He touches the mountains and they smoke.

I will sing to the Lord as long as I live, * I will praise my God as long as I last!

Would that my thoughts be pleasing to Him, * and I will rejoice in the Lord!

May sinners vanish from the earth, * and may the wicked be no more.
Bless the Lord, O my soul!

The sun knows the time of its setting; * You establish darkness, and it is night.

How great are your works, O Lord, * in wisdom You have wrought them all!

† Glory be to the Father, and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit,
now and forever and ever. Amen.

Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia. † Glory be to You, O God. Three Times

Reading from the Psalter

In the Byzantine tradition, the Psalter is divided into twenty readings (kathisma), each of which is divided into three sections (stasis), so that all the psalms can be read at vespers and matins throughout the week. The first kathisma (Psalms 1-8) is usually read on the eves of Sundays and Major Feasts. The following is its customary abbreviation:

Blessed is the man who has not walked in the counsel of the wicked.

Refrain: Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia.

For the Lord knows the way of the just, but the way of the wicked shall be lost.

Serve the Lord with fear, exalt in Him with trembling.

Blessed are those who trust in Him.

Sundays: Arise, O Lord, save me, my God!

Feast Days: How many are my foes, O Lord, how many are rising up against me.

Salvation is of the Lord! Upon Your people Your blessing.

Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit.

Now and forever and ever, Amen.

Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia. Glory be to You, O God! Three Times

SMALL LITANY

If the reading of the psalter is unabbreviated, the deacon intones the small litany in between each stasis.

If the psalter is abbreviated, the deacon intones the small litany once at the conclusion:

Deacon: Again and again in peace let us pray to the Lord.

People: Lord, have mercy.

Deacon: Help and save, have mercy and protect us, O God, by Your grace.

People: Lord, have mercy.

Deacon: Remembering our most holy and immaculate, most blessed and glorious Lady, the Mother of God and ever-virgin Mary, together with all the saints, let us commend ourselves and one another and our whole life to Christ our God.

People: To You, O Lord.

Priest: For Yours is the might, and Yours are the kingdom and the power and the glory, † Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, now and forever and ever.

People: Amen.

The Lamp-Lighting Psalms

Psalm 140

The first two verses are chanted in the tone of the first stikheron:

O Lord, I have cried to You, hear me, * hear me, O Lord. * O Lord, I have cried to You, hear me, * receive the voice of my prayer when I call upon You.  Hear me, O Lord.

Let my prayer rise like incense before You, * the lifting up of my hands as an evening sacrifice.  Hear me, O Lord.

The psalms continue with the people alternating sides:

- A: Set a guard, O Lord, before my mouth * and a portal around my lips.
- B: Incline my heart away from evil dealings, * from finding excuses for sinful deeds.
- A: In company with those who work iniquity, * let me not partake of what they choose.
- B: May the just chasten me with justice and reprove me. * May the oil of the wicked never touch my head.
- A: Yet even then shall I pray for their welfare, * their rulers were swallowed near the rock.
- B: My words shall be heard for they were sweet. * As a lump of clay broken on the ground, so their bones were strewn near the grave.
- A: To You, Lord, O Lord, my eyes are lifted up. * In You have I hoped; let not my soul be lost.
- B: Keep me from the snare that was set for me, * and from the stumbling blocks of the wicked.
- A: The wicked shall fall into their own nets, * while I remain alone until I can escape.

Psalm 141

- B: With my voice I cried to the Lord. * With all my voice I implored the Lord.
- A: Before Him I pour out my supplication. * Before Him I declare my distress.
- B: When my breath was escaping me, * then You knew my paths.
- A: On the road upon which I was walking, * they set up snares for me.
- B: I looked to my right and observed, * there was no one friendly to me.
- A: Even flight was denied me; * there was no one to take care of my life.
- B: I cried out to You, O Lord, and said: * You are my hope, my share in the land of the living.
- A: Listen to my supplication, * for I am laid very low.
- B: Deliver me from my oppressors, * for they have overwhelmed me.

Stikhera

*Stikhera are ancient poetic compositions set between psalm verses.
They contain the theology of the feast and of the saint being celebrated.*

- 10: Lead my soul forth from prison, * that I may give thanks to your name.
- 9: The just shall gather around me, * when You have been good to me.

Psalm 129

- 8: Out of the depths I cry to You, O Lord, * O Lord, hear my voice.
- 7: Let your ears be attentive, * to the voice of my prayer.
- 6: If You mark iniquities, Lord, who can stand? * But with You forgiveness is that You may be revered.
- 5: I have waited for You, as You have commanded; * my soul patiently relies on Your promise, for it has trusted in the Lord.
- 4: From the morning watch until night * let Israel trust in the Lord.

3: For with the Lord there is mercy and with Him there is plentiful redemption; * and He shall redeem Israel from all its iniquities.

Psalm 116

2: Praise the Lord, all the nations * proclaim His glory, all you people.

1: Strong is the love of the Lord for us, * eternally will His truth endure.

† Glory be to the Father and to the Son * and to the Holy Spirit.

Now and forever * and ever. Amen.
